Lovingly restored in the early 1980s by brothers Íñigo and Javier Amézola, this estate holds the unusual distinction for Rioja of owning all of its vines across 60 hectares of mature vineyards overlooking the picturesque confluence of the Najerilla and Ebro Rivers in the heart of Rioja Alta. Following the tragic loss of their wine making father, Íñigo's daughters María and Cristina have expertly guided the estate, skilfully assisted by renowned wine making consultant Georges Pauli, who previously served as head enologist at Château Gruaud-Larose and other distinguished French estates. When the sisters assumed control, they were the youngest wine producers in Rioja, yet their remarkable enthusiasm and unwavering dedication to producing wines of the highest quality have earned them tremendous respect amongst peers and wine connoisseurs worldwide.

Discover the artistry of organic French wine making with The French Organic Pairing, featuring the exceptional wines of Château de Gaure from the renowned Languedoc region. This sophisticated selection celebrates five generations of wine making heritage, where Pierre Fabre, representing the fifth generation of his family's viticultural legacy, returned to his roots in 2004 to create something truly extraordinary. Working alongside acclaimed enologist Marc Bertrand, Pierre Fabre has crafted the distinguished Gaure range, which quickly garnered recognition from the prestigious "La Revue des vins de France." Committed to sustainable excellence, the estate has embraced chemical-free production methods, with the entire range undergoing organic conversion to honour the perfect harmony between nature and terroir. These wines exemplify Pierre Fabre's philosophy of creating velvety, supple wines that showcase sophisticated balance and delight the discerning connoisseur. Through meticulous manual harvesting, careful transport in small 15kg boxes, and traditional fermentation using indigenous yeasts in carefully selected barrels and tuns, each bottle represents the pinnacle of artisanal craftsmanship.

Discover the elegance of French wine making with The French Pairing, a sophisticated duo that showcases the very best of France's most celebrated wine regions.

This exquisite selection features Les Tours de Laroque, the distinguished second wine from the renowned Château Laroque estate in Saint-Émilion, where 12th-century towers overlook rolling vineyards across 61 hectares of limestone plateaus. Known for its remarkable elegance, this wine captivates with enchanting aromas of cherry and plum, delivering a velvet texture and vibrant acidity that speaks to centuries of wine making heritage.

Perfectly complementing this is the exceptional Gitton Père et Fils Sancerre, a white wine celebrated for its fruity spice and characteristic notes of crisp apples, bright citrus, and subtle melon.
